Chadron Air Crash Kills 2 Pair Die As Plane Hits Pole

Veteran War Fliers Victims Of Accident

CHADRON, Neb. (AP)—Two men were killed Tuesday when a light plane struck a power line pole and crashed into a field five miles southwest of here.

The victims were Solomon Luft, 32, and Dick Carlson, 28, both of Chadron. Both were pilots during World War II. Luft was the operator of a Chadron airport and was demonstrating the two-passenger plane to Carlson, an auto salesman, at the time of the crash.

The CAA was investigating the crash. Additional details were not available. The plane crashed on the farm of Bert Goffena.

Luft is survived by his widow, Pat, and a son, Randy, 1½. Carlson's survivors are his widow, Mildred, a daughter, Pamela, 5, and a son, Rick, 8.

Whitewash Tax Aid May Be Fired

Caudle Successor Denies Going Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Atty. Gen. Ellis N. Slack, who was accused of helping engineer an alleged St. Louis grand jury whitewash involving tax scandals, was reported on his way out Tuesday as acting chief of the Justice Department's Tax Fraud Division.

Slack himself disagreed. He said he understands he is not going to be fired or demoted.

But a qualified informant, who asked not to be quoted by name, insisted that Slack will either be asked to resign or shifted to another assignment.

Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery declined any official comment on the report of Slack's impending ouster, which would make the latest in a long series of recent Justice Department shakeups.

Slack has headed the Tax Division since President Truman fired T. Lamar Caudle last November.

Testifying under oath before a House judiciary subcommittee two weeks ago, Slack denied he helped arrange a St. Louis grand jury's original report on scandals in the U.S. tax collector's office in the Midwest city.

The report, giving the office a clean bill of health, backfired when 74-year-old Federal Judge George H. Moore denounced it as "astounding" and ordered the grand jury to dig harder for evidence.

City Library Employees Get Wage Increase

City Library employees were granted a general wage increase of from $1 to $15 a week at the Tuesday meeting of the Library board of directors.

Wages will be adjusted, as of Sept. 1, according to the following schedule made out by Director Charles Dalrymple:

Employees in service less than six months, no increase.

Employees in service from six months to one year, zero to $15 a week increase.

Employees in service one year or more, $15 a week increase.

A few of the 31 Library employees will receive additional increases through merit raises and a new job classification plan adopted by the board.

The last raise to Library employees was a merit raise effecting only certain personnel. All Library employees were covered by the merit adjustments made in September of 1951.

This year's raises will mean a $7,280 increase in the Library's total payroll, amounting to $99,540 last year. The increase will be larger if Dalrymple secures the three staff members he is now short.

In other action, the board started its new year by electing Mrs. William I. Aitken as president. John H. Ames, president last year, was given the vice-presidency.

Omaha Woman State's 51st Victim Of Polio

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Eve Miller, 33, of Omaha died of polio Tuesday.

Mrs. Miller was admitted for treatment Saturday. She was the state's 51st polio victim of the year.

Dutch Woman Studying Lincoln Social Work During Visit Here

By DON WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

A vacation for most people means a short trip and a change from the humdrum of daily living. Not so for Miss Christine Hellema, a native of The Netherlands, who is visiting Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Wolters of 2217 A.

On both scores Miss Hellema is an exception. Here for a three-week visit—her first trip to America—with the Wolters and other friends, the charming Dutchwoman doesn't consider a three-months coast-to-coast tour anything out of the ordinary.

As for a change in day-to-day living, Miss Hellema is deep in her "real" interest—social work. In Lincoln only three days, she has already contacted officials in both state and county welfare departments, seeking information on common local problems and methods of handling them.

An advertising manager of a women's magazine and member of the local board of social welfare in Zaadam, Miss Hellema's interest in social work doesn't come by accident.

Though she shrugged it off as "unimportant," during the last winter of World War II she helped organize the local "Women's Frontier Service" which aided the Dutch underground movement.

Each day during the winter of 1944 the group wrapped 1,000 packages of food, taken from the German Army's food cache by the underground, and distributed it among the area's sick and hungry. Only 10 persons died of hunger, she said, but these could have been saved if the Service had known of their plight.

This and the post-war hardships suffered by her countrymen have spurred her on to investigate a phase of social work neglected in The Netherlands: case work.

"Unemployment and a severe housing shortage are greatest problems facing us today," Miss Hellema said. "However, we hope to have our housing problem solved by 1960."

Her country's speedy near-recovery from the war destruction she credits to America's Marshall Plan aid.

"You can't possibly imagine how much we are indebted to you," she added, speaking with a soft Dutch burr.

Would she make the remainder of her stay here in the United States a "real" vacation once her social work visit was finished?

Not at all. From here Miss Hellema goes to Grand Rapids, Mich., to visit friends and delve into more case-work study. From there she'll stop off in New York City to talk over advertising—her back door—with her Dutch friends.

Valuables Worth $500 Said Stolen From Dining Room

Burglars snatched a $300 diamond ring and a total booty of nearly $500 in valuables from the dining room of Mrs. E. E. Johns' residence at 1600 Q.

Stolen in addition to the ¾-carat ring mounted in white gold and topped in platinum, were a $150 gold pen and pencil set, a $20 silver plated lighter-case combination, and a metal device for printing business ads on post cards valued at $19.75.

Other State Primaries

From Press Dispatches
NEW HAMPSHIRE

Scattered early returns from the New Hampshire voting gave Hugh Gregg a 4-1 lead in the four-way Republican race for governor. William H. Craig took an early lead on the Democratic side. Gov. Sherman Adams is not seeking re-election.

The state's two U. S. representatives, both Republicans, were given good chances of re-election. They are Chester E. Merrow and Norris Cotton.

UTAH

Incumbent Sen. Arthur V. Watkins took a narrow margin lead over Marriner S. Eccles for the Republican Senate nomination with 34 out of 968 districts in Utah reporting.

Watkins had 1,149 to 863 for Eccles while Rep. Walter K. Granger took a commanding 1,175 to 413 vote lead over former Gov. Herbert B. Maw for the Democratic Senate nod.

In the gubernatorial race, incumbent Gov. J. Bracken Lee piled up 1,601 to 372 votes for Dr. A. C. Callister in the Republican nomination, while Salt Lake City Mayor Earl J. Glade and Secretary of State Heber Bennion Jr. waged a close battle. Bennion led by 723 votes to 636 for Glade.

VERMONT

Gov. Lee E. Emerson, seeking re-election in Vermont, took an early lead over State Sen. Henry D. Vail in a Republican primary.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders held a big margin over William Semeraro in the state's Republican senatorial race.

Winston L. Prouty, Vermont's only U. S. representative, trailed George H. Abbott with only one town vote in Republican nomination is tantamount to election in the state.

COLORADO

John Metzger forged a strong lead in the three-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with nearly one-seventh of the votes counted in Colorado's primary election.

Unofficial returns gave the former attorney general approximately as many votes as both of his opponents combined.

Gov. Dan Thornton was unopposed on the Republican ticket for re-election, and major interest in the primary centers in the contest to designate his opponent.

Meanwhile, Denver voters were turning thumbs down on four proposed amendments and eight bond issues. Two others were close.

WASHINGTON

Rep. Hugh B. Mitchell of Seattle took a commanding lead for the Democratic nomination for governor on the basis of early returns from Washington's primary election.

Mitchell led four other candidates for the right to oppose Republican Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, who was running far ahead of Dr. John E. Lydon of Seattle.

Rep. Henry M. Jackson (D) was unopposed for his party's opposition to U. S. senator to oppose Sen. Harry P. Cain (R). Cain was far ahead of two opponents, Carl Viking Holman of Seattle and Ed Oldfield of Montesano.

Smashing Victory By Senator Is Bitterly Conceded By Len Schmitt

'Result Of This Election Appalling Thing,' McCarthy's Chief Opponent Says

From Press Dispatches

MILWAUKEE—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy won a smashing primary election victory Tuesday night that gave him the GOP senatorial nomination and rousing support from the voters in his campaign to root communists from government.

His chief opponent, Len Schmitt, bitterly conceded McCarthy's nomination at 10:50 p.m. (CST) as vote returns across the state indicated a landslide for the 42-year-old senator.

Latest tabulations in the senatorial contests:
Republican—1,207 of the state's 3,244 precincts gave:
McCarthy—128,614.
Schmitt—41,216.
Democratic—1,105 of 3,244 precincts gave:
Thomas A. Fairchild—13,007.
Henry S. Reuss—8,154.

HOAX CHARGED

Schmitt said in his statement: "The result of this election is an appalling thing... What is important is that a man with the most corrupt record ever made by a Wisconsin senator is overwhelmingly endorsed by Wisconsin voters."

Schmitt charged McCarthy had perpetrated "the most amazing and fraudulent hoax ever practiced by a high public figure" upon the voters of any state.

And he added: "When the full truth dawns many people will recall their support of Joseph R. McCarthy in this election with shame."

HEAVY VOTE CAST
Four other candidates in the Republican senatorial race received scattered—and negligible—recognition from the voters.

The vote in the primary was heavy throughout the state. Estimates ran as high as one million votes. The record for a primary was set in 1940, when 640,000 Wisconsin voters journeyed to the polls.

In the Democratic senatorial race, former State Atty. Gen. Thomas E. Fairchild amassed an early 2-to-1 lead over Henry S. Reuss, Milwaukee attorney.

There was keen interest in just what influence Democratic voters might have in the McCarthy-Schmitt race since Wisconsin law permits switch-voting. Wisconsin voters are not required to register by party affiliation—and thus a Democrat can vote in a Republican primary, or vice versa.

Heated Race
While chief interest centered on the McCarthy-Schmitt contest, the Democrats had a heated race under way between Henry Reuss of Milwaukee and Thomas Fairchild of Verona for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

The Wisconsin state CIO has endorsed Herman Steffes as President. Reuss, But CIO State urged union members voting in the Republican primary ticket to back Schmitt against McCarthy.

The other four contestants in the GOP senatorial race were Edward Finin of Bristol, Edmund Kerwer of Lake Geneva, Edward Jacobson of Kenosha and Perry Sterans of Milwaukee.

Adlai Will Never Appease Russia

Reckless GOP Critics Hit By Stevenson

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to Indiana voters Tuesday to "spare no efforts" to elect Sen. William E. Jenner and the whole GOP ticket and end government by "fear-mongers, quack doctors and bareface looters."

And the Republican presidential nominee slapped at his Democratic rival, Adlai Stevenson, as "using every trick in the book to get himself off the hook of the present administration's record."

"When the hand-picked heirs wants no part of the heirlooms," Eisenhower asked a party rally at Butler University Fieldhouse, "why should we?"

Stevenson said the GOP has contributed nothing but a "fearful postmortem about China" and challenged the Republicans to show good faith by "doing something about India today rather than talking about China yesterday."

The Democratic presidential candidate, making his first major foreign policy address, called for a twin program of "defense and development" to meet the grave Communist threat in Asia and lashed out at "reckless Republican criticism."

Stevenson said the GOP has contributed nothing but a "fearful postmortem about China" and challenged the Republicans to show good faith by "doing something about India today rather than talking about China yesterday."

Speaking in the San Francisco hall where the United Nations was born, Stevenson defended the Korean War as a "turning point in history" and warned against "unscrupulous politicians" who "exploit grief, tragedy and discontent for votes."

"The contest between freedom and tyranny will involve negotiation and adjustment—compromise but never appeasement—and I will never shrink from these if they advance the world toward secure peace."

"I do not think that war is an inevitable part of this contest between freedom and tyranny."

"Even the most ambitious and ruthless men do not deliberately invite destruction of the basis of their power."

"They can throw the iron dice, but they know they cannot forestall the fortunes of war."

Warning To Russia
In the speech he prepared for delivery at 8:30 p.m. (CST) in Veterans' Memorial Auditorium, the Illinois governor also warned Russia and others abroad "who may mistake our present wrangling for weakness."

He said: "The costliest blunders of the 20th century have been made by dictators who did not quite understand the workings of real democracy and who mistook diversity for disunity."

Criticism of his Republican opponent and the "Old Guard" of the GOP was scattered throughout Stevenson's speech.

"Whatever unscrupulous politicians may say to exploit grief, tragedy and discontent for votes, history will never record that Korea was a 'useless' war, unless today's heroism is watered with tomorrow's cowardice," he said.

Stevenson added: "I believe we may in time look back at Korea as a major turning point in history—a turning point which led not to another terrible war... but the first historic demonstration that an effective system of collective security is possible."

"Having failed to defeat us on the field of battle, the enemy now seeks to defeat us by prolonging the negotiations and by exhausting our patience."

"But some men in this country seem to think that if definitive victory cannot be won, we should either take reckless military action or give the whole thing up."

"Such advice plays into the enemy's hands. The contest with tyranny is not a hundred-yard dash—it is a test of endurance."

Senator Butler Warns Jaycees Of Inflation

Sen. Hugh Butler urged Lincoln Jaycees to be on guard against the "inflationary tendencies" of government in a "non partisan" address to the group Tuesday.

"You know what it means if you overspend," said Butler, "and it means just as much and more if the government overspends."

Butler said it was "disheartening" to see the decreasing value of the American dollar in the exchange of foreign currency. He pointed out that the Canadian dollar is now worth more than the United States dollar.

"Unity Essential"

Nebraska's senior senator also told the Jaycees that unity was essential in both politics and business. Really important legislation that affects the country, said Butler, is never settled on a partisan basis.

The gray-haired senator's first remarks were to compliment the Jaycees on their campaign to get out the vote. The comparatively small number of people who vote, he said, is a disgrace to this country.

The junior chamber of commerce members were also urged to take an active part in politics.

"You young men," he asserted, "should be more interested in politics on all levels than anyone else as it is upon your shoulders that the burdens of the future will fall."

Man Found Not Guilty In County Court Case

George R. Martin, 2621 No. 45th, was found not guilty of a charge of procuring alcoholic liquor for a minor Tuesday in County Court by Judge Herbert A. Ronin.

However, the minor, Ray R. Martin, 19, 1042 So. 31st, was found guilty of a charge of possession of alcoholic liquor by a minor. Judge Ronin fined him $25 and court costs.

The elder Martin admitted that he bought the six cans of beer in question and that Ray gave him 75 cents for the purchase. However, he said he did not buy the beer for the minor.

Later, the beer was found in the younger Martin's possession.

NU Freshmen Honored At Ag College Barbecue, Fun Fest

A barbecue and evening of "Cornhusker traditions" was attended by more than 1,300 enthusiastic new students of the University of Nebraska at the Ag College campus Tuesday night.

The frosh NUers, relaxing for the first time between pre-registration exams, tests, and conferences, ate more than 200 pounds of barbecued beef along with beans, cole slaw, fried potatoes, ice cream bars and pop.

Potsy Clark, NU athletic director, told the student throng that athletics is the most talked about subject on the campus next to activities of boys and girls.

"You should be on the inside of the athletic program looking out instead of the outside looking in," the NU athletic director said.

He pointed out that the varsity football team "is going to be one built from the ground up" this year.

All But Seven Of Lincoln Schools Show Increases In Enrollment

All but seven of Lincoln's 29 public schools showed increases in enrollment as the 1952-53 school term got underway, according to a report presented the Board of Education Tuesday by Supt. Steven N. Watkins.

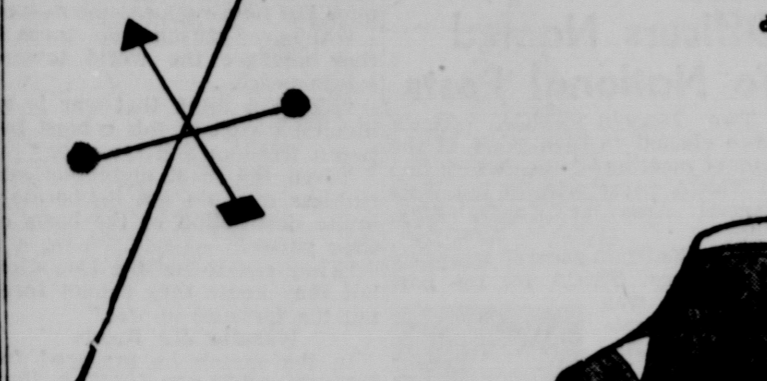

Largest gain was noted at Northeast Junior, Senior and Child Center schools, where 101 additional students had enrolled to make the total 1,261.

Lake View school enrollment dropped from 154 to 93, a loss of 61, the largest decrease in any one school.

School records showed the largest increase in students in the kindergarten to sixth grade classes—521. Of this number, 287 were in kindergarten. The combined total of these classes amounted to 8,912. Only drop was at the 10th to 12th level, where enrollment was less 8 than last year. An increase of 111 was reported for grades seven to nine.

Baby-Type Iron Lung Rushed Here For Child; 10 New Cases

A baby-type iron lung was rushed to Lincoln Tuesday for 5-month-old Paul Gillespie, 3410 No. 51st, reported critically ill with polio at Lincoln General.

The baby was one of 10 new cases reported Tuesday, increasing the total for Lancaster County to 168, with an incidence per 100,000 population of close to 135. Morris Siegel, county polio chairman, said late Tuesday night he hoped "this will let up soon."

Siegel said the polio peak, based on the incidence curve over the past 10 years, should be reached by Wednesday.

211 Polio Cases Are Reported To State In Week

Polio cases reported to the state health department last week soared to 211, nearly equal to the 233 that had been reported for the entire year up to this time last year, Dr. E. A. Rogers, acting director of health reported Tuesday.

He explained that of the big total 68 cases were delayed reports and 45 were prior to Aug. 23. The total for the year to date is 1,092. Comparisons over a similar period were given as 217 in 1950; 295 in 1949 and 305 in 1948.

As of late Monday, Nebraska had at least 441 polio patients under treatment, according to a survey by Clinton Belknap of Lincoln, east Nebraska representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

He said that of this number 51 were in tank type iron lungs and another 30 were dependent on chest respirators. The Foundation has had to bring 30 additional tank type iron lungs into the state so far this year along with about a dozen chest respirators, Belknap said.

The survey covered hospitals in Lincoln, Omaha, Grand Island, Hastings and Scottsbluff.

Other new cases reported Tuesday to the polio chairman are: George Wanner, 4, of 3929 Randolph, at Lincoln General. (Not related to Gary Wanner of Lincoln who died of the virus.) ## Community Chest And Red Cross Plan Joint Drives At Businesses

Albert A. Held and Robert A. Dobson, presidents respectively of the Lincoln Community Chest and the Red Cross, have announced the uniting of the two organizations' campaigns for 1953 funds in one October drive.

A joint campaign of the Chest and Red Cross was tried out in a smaller way last fall when a solicitation was held among the employees of 40 larger business firms.

Dobson pointed out that the joining of the two agencies in this campaign is expected to reduce the time and effort in the raising of funds for the two organizations.

Joint Solicitation

The plans agreed upon by the organizations include the com-

Combined solicitations of corporations and individuals in the Advanced Gifts Division, Division A; the local branches of national corporations, in Division E; and all employees of all business firms and institutions of Division C.

A joint statement by Held and Dobson said "The plan will save the time and effort of thousands of volunteer solicitors, as well as save from six to eight thousand dollars in expenses."

General chairman of the campaign is Walter S. Henrion. Associated with Henrion will be Clarence Hinds, representing the Red Cross.

30,000 See Fall Fashion Display, Parade

Jackie Frost's Wand Reveals Windows

Cool weather and clear skies brought more than 30,000 persons out to line Lincoln's downtown streets for the 31st annual fall fashion display and parade Tuesday.

Approximately 75 models—men, women, and children—showed fall finery in the parade which began at 7:30 p.m. Two local high school bands and the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps provided the music.

Star of the parade was "Jackie Frost," Pat Hammond, 20, 3232 So. 30th, who unveiled store windows with her magic (and flour-scented) wand as she rode by in the parade.

Miss Hammond rode "White Warrior," the national champion albino horse for the past two years. The horse is owned by Arthur Comer, Beatrice, and trained by D. S. Whitcomb Sr., Lincoln.

Color Featured
Feminine fashions, as indicated by store windows and the parade models, feature color. Red, blonde, "coronation purple," grey, pearl, and russet tones seem to be 1952 favorites.

The only bathing suit in the parade was a two-piece model of white and leopard-stenciled rabbit skin.

Big news for the men concentrates at head level. The well-dressed man will wear a narrow-brimmed, high crowned hat this season.

Crowds gathered at windows which included a gun collection, a ten carat diamond valued at $25,000, and a store which featured elaborate evening gowns in grey satin.

Although fall fashions for '52 are of the "high fashion" type, Lincoln high school girls attending the parade wore the perennial teen-age uniform—blue jeans and white shirts.

In charge of the annual event is the Lincoln Promotion Council. John Wylie and Irv Rosewell were co-chairmen.

Make Merry with Milk for Health and Pleasure...

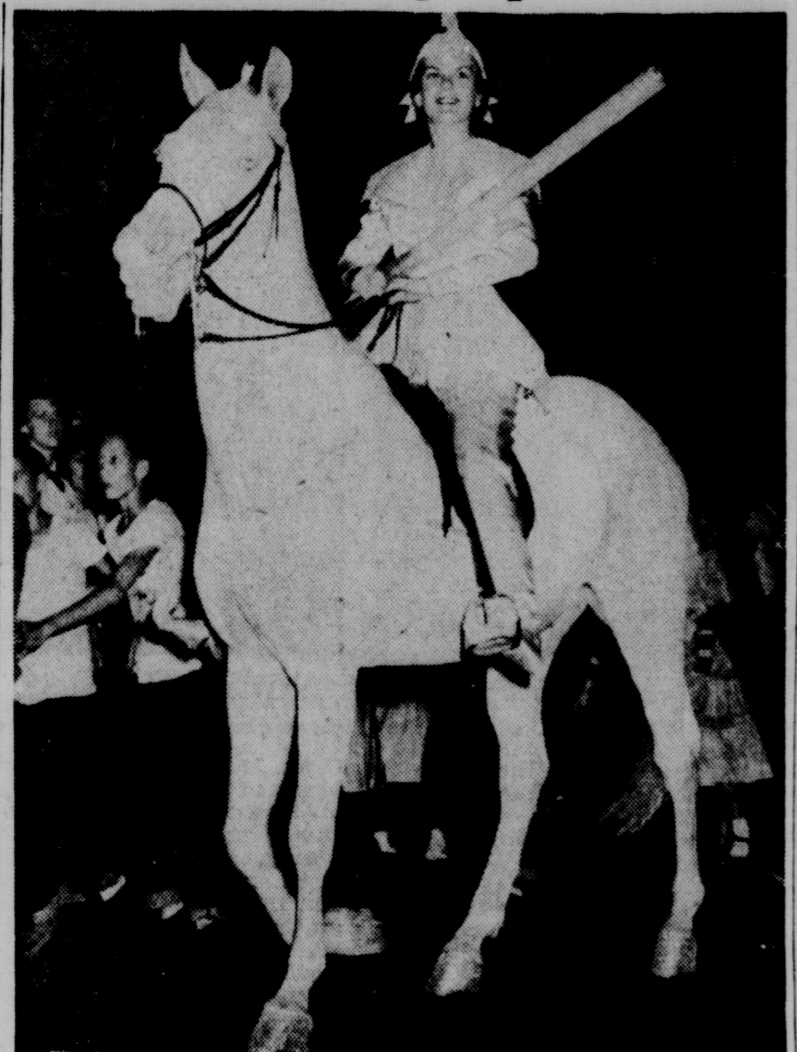

By MARY MANNING
Milk can be the basis for many a cheerful drink—and at the same time give you energy and nourishment not found in many other refreshments.

For example, here's a SHERBET MILK SHAKE that's both wonderfully delicious and healthful.

To one quart of FAIRMONT MILK, add one pint of Fairmont Orange Sherbet, juice of half a lemon, 1/4 teaspoon of salt, and fruit topping, if you wish.

Place in shaker or covered fruit jar, shake well, and serve cold. This makes six of the most delicious Milk Shakes you ever tasted.

And each one has the rich, delicious goodness of creamy FAIRMONT MILK. This is milk at its very best. So fresh, and so refreshing. So good to drink—and so good for you. A glass of cold, fresh FAIRMONT

An Orchid To Pat Ash

Something out of the ordinary—something most worthy of public attention—happened Monday at the Lincoln City hall in the middle of one of those traditionally humdrum sessions of the Lincoln City Council.

It was weighing a proposal for the purchase on the open market of copper wire for the City Light Plant. That purchase would have called for the outlay of $18,000—copper wire is expensive and runs into money. Councilman Pat Ash protested that bids had not been called for. The answer he got from a spokesman for the light plant was that it is impossible to obtain bids in the present market; the more expeditious way is to purchase on the open market—where, when and if a reasonable, attractive offer can be procured.

That may be true, but if it is true, what of it? The purchase of supplies for governmental agencies without calling for competitive bids is poor public practice. No supplies except those of the most trifling nature and to meet developing emergencies should be purchased without competitive bidding. No contract for supplies or materials should be entered into without providing firms interested in those lines the opportunity to bid.

The state of Nebraska observes this practice—it is the law of the state. Any purchase involving more than $25 calls for public bidding. Any purchase, even though it may be less than $25, is not made without informal inquiry from two or more firms.

There is a good reason for this practice. It is not necessary to waste a lot of words pointing out that reason. If the faith that is to be a part of public business is to be maintained, then it is necessary at all times and under all circumstances to transact public business out in the open in the plain view of those who pay for government—which is the situation prevailing when competitive bidding on supplies is followed rigorously.

Mr. Ash deserves an orchid for raising the question. More power to him! We hope that he stands up in meeting and insists that notwithstanding the difficulty in obtaining bids, every agency of city government, including the City Light Plant, follow the rules. If it has been purchasing supplies without calling for bids, then it should be called in on the carpet and told the facts of life. If it experiences difficulty in getting bids, then there is plenty of time to worry about that.

Harmony's Loving Converts

Out at Kearney Monday several hundred Nebraskans may have sat in wonderment—round-eyed, mouths gaping at one of the most touching scenes which has taken place in many a late summer harvest moon.

Gov. Val Peterson and Sen. Hugh Butler, hand in hand, called for party unity and as a demonstration of deeply rooted affection, abiding faith and common purpose, told their listeners to forget all that had happened and to get into the game with both feet. That, the reader recognizes, is the essence of what befalls a great moral crusade now and then.

It was only a few months ago when Sen. Butler was gnashing his teeth, running his fingers through his hair over the unkind things he felt Gov. Peterson was saying about him in the primary campaign for the Republican nomination for the Senate. It was only a few months ago that Gov. Peterson was voicing his doubts at every country crossroads over Sen. Butler's physical vigor, suggesting that the senator was too old, too burned out—just too, too—to be the party's candidate for the Senate. Butler was for Taft on principle—Peterson was for Eisenhower on principle—and both were so thoroughly impregnated with principle that they gave their best in the spirit of principle.

There is one thing that is slightly confusing in all this talk of harmony. Who gave—and what is it that they gave? If the principles of a great moral crusade are sacred, and those principles are diametrically opposite, then something has to give and somebody has to scrap his most cherished political principles.

Now when Peterson met Butler and Butler met Peterson, who gave—if anything?

When Eisenhower meets Taft and Taft meets Eisenhower, who will give, and what is it that they give? Three guesses, which is two too many. Who but the candidate will give?

Now, 32 Years Later

"The last deliberate effort in Nebraska to organize state functions on a logical pattern occurred in 1919 when the administrative code went into effect. Then six code departments were established. Now, 32 years later, our state government includes some 46 separate departments, boards, commissions, committees and other miscellaneous agencies. This does not include the numerous bureaus and divisions within the major departments, nor the five educational institutions, nor the 17 charitable, penal and correctional institutions."—extract from a speech by Bob Crosby.

In these 32 years since former Gov. Sam McKelvie undertook to lift the face of Nebraska state government, seven men have served Nebraska as governor. Five of them were Republicans. Two of them Democrats. The two Democrats—the late Charles W. Bryan and Roy Cochran—were in office 12 of the 32 years towards which Bob Crosby points the finger of indirect criticism. The five Republicans who headed Nebraska state government served 20 of the 32 years during which Mr. Crosby noted a constant rise in boards, bureaus and commissions, an uninterrupted growth of governmental agencies. And this, in spite of the fact that back in 1919, former Gov. McKelvie in converting Nebraskans to the idea of reorganizing state government on the basis of the civil administrative code had taken care of all this. Every month and every year since 1919 we have had the civil administrative code system and we have had what Mr. Crosby suggests has been a continuing growth in boards, bureaus and agencies.

We do not know whether the Republican candidate for governor wanted to take a sly poke at the complete failure of the widely-heralded McKelvie reorganization plan for state government. We doubt it, because Mr. Crosby is a loyal party man. We are inclined to think that in groping around he let a cat out of the bag. And while critical of commissions and bureaus at the state house, what he neglected to tell the people is that his own party through its elected representatives has been in control the bulk of the time, which he reviewed. Never once apparently did he ask himself what govern-nor and what party should have been pondering upon this trend.

This paper never has reversed its position on McKelvie's civil administrative code. We said at the time it was first proposed and on many occasions since then that it did not simplify government—contribute to the efficiency of government—lead to economy in government—but actually increased the cost of government and encouraged duplication in government.

At the time the civil administrative code was proposed, Nebraska should have reached a decision whether it was wiser to do away with some constitutional elective officials and transfer their duties to civil administrative code secretaries appointed by the governor, or to retain the constitutional officers. The code officers took over duties and functions which had been supervised by the constitutional officers or by boards made up of the constitutional officers. The civil administrative code did not eliminate any officials or wipe out any of the boards and bureaus which were costing the people money. It only added some officials who draw as much money as the constitutional officers, with the exception of governor.

Mr. Crosby, a young man of limited experience, cannot be expected to possess first-hand information of what took place in 1919. What took place then may have been a deliberate attempt to organize state functions on a logical pattern but the logic of it cost the people more money and has continued to cost the people more money. The civil administrative code system could have made sense with the short ballot. Without the short ballot, it was nonsense. And at that time and since then, the people of Nebraska have had no stomach for the short ballot, placing huge appointive power in the hands of the governor and eliminating all elective state officers with the exception of two or three.

If we want code government, we should find it possible to eliminate some constitutional offices. If we want constitutional officers elected by the people, then we cannot call it a logical pattern to adopt the cabinet plan.

Political Machine

A college psychologist has come up with a system of detecting how secret agreements and blocs arise among voting bodies. By use of an elaborate punch card method, the voting pattern of any group, from city councils to the United Nations, can be determined in short order.

This is the way it works: A legislator's voting record is put down on a card, fed into a machine along with the records of other members of the voting body. The "answer" that comes out shows how every man voted in relation to every other man.

A less scientific, and probably less accurate, system has been employed in cloakrooms and corridors for many years. It's simply a matter of finding out who made agreements to vote one way or another, or to pair votes, or to abstain—and then passing the word along. More than one legislator has been plinned down in this fashion.

The thinking machine, nevertheless, has advantages. The results it compiles can be passed along to the voters in an easy-to-understand table, thus making it unnecessary to go to all the trouble of virtual cloak-and-dagger maneuvers to get the same information.

A Good New Twist

A cheer for one Mike DiSalle, the former price control chief who is trying hard to unseat Sen. Bricker in the Ohio senatorial race. He has published a complete list of his campaign expenditures in newspaper advertisements, a commendable break with political tradition which calls for as much secrecy as possible about campaign expenditures.

Publicity A La Reds

The Italian Communists are in trouble with a furious young bride and groom who have filed suit against the Reds asking 3 million lira damages. During the last elections, the Communists plastered the walls of Rome with "unity" posters showing a photomontage of a happy young couple on their wedding day. The man and woman who were given this publicity claim that the posters caused them great harm among their friends and particularly among business associates who know the man as a conservative executive. Other business men, the plaintiff says, thought he was leading a double life of prosperous manufacturer and Communist.

DREW PEARSON

Shake-Up In Ike's Camp Displaces Two Leaders

WASHINGTON — Gen. Eisenhower is quietly shaking up his cabinet of political advisers.

The chief shake affects Arthur Summerfield of Michigan, who has virtually eased out of the top command and now has almost nothing to say about campaign strategy, though he continues to bear the imposing title of GOP national chairman.

Another who has fallen by the wayside is Ike's pioneer champion, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. This is partly because Lodge is busy back home, and GOP leaders are wondering whether Lodge can win his own fight for re-election.

Ike's top adviser now is Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, the man who, along with Lodge, blazed the trail for Eisenhower's first primary victory—that in New Hampshire.

Others in the charmed circle around the general are Ralph C. Cake, former GOP national committeeman from Oregon; Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska; Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas; Robert Burroughs, former national committeeman from New Hampshire; and Ed Birmingham of Wyoming, wealthy rancher and former partner in the Dillon, Read banking firm.

This is the first team. The slappingdown of GOP Chairman Summerfield stemmed from several reasons, one being his ineffectiveness in lining up old guard elements in the Midwest, still bitter over Taft's defeat. Summerfield, a former Taft supporter, was counted on to convert Taftites into Ikeites but only partly succeeded.

Summerfield's yen for personal power and grandeur also hasn't endeared him to Eisenhower. An example was his backstage effort to grab the Citizens-for-Eisenhower clubs away from Walter Williams and Mrs. Mary Lord and put them under the control of the Republican National Committee. Williams and Mrs. Lord raised a vigorous yowl and Eisenhower backed them up.

Summerfield has made other enemies, notably Paul Hoffman, head of the Ford Foundation and former ECA boss in Europe. Privately, Hoffman makes no secret of his disregard for Summerfield, partly because of the latter's old guard isolationist background.

However, Summerfield's biggest mistake and the thing that led directly to his downfall was his opposition to Eisenhower's invasion of the South. Meeting with Ike in Denver, the Michigan leader argued vigorously against it.

He contended that the proposed southern tour would amount to a "lot of hoopla and a waste of time," with no electoral votes forthcoming. Furthermore, Ike might antagonize liberal supporters in the North.

Eisenhower shot back that he was running for president of the whole country, not just the North, and that he was going to make the trip even if it didn't win him a single electoral vote.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Trend in New England Shows New Awakening

BOSTON, Mass.—The 40 electoral votes of the six New England states are not likely to decide the outcome of the national election in November. But some of the contests being waged in the northeast corner of the United States are entertaining, lively and in one or two instances bitterly controversial.

They point up the fact that in state after state in this unusual campaign year the sideshow is more exciting than what is going on under the big tent. Moreover, the outcome of senatorial and gubernatorial contests will in some cases have a lot to do with whether electoral votes wind up in the Republican or the Democratic column.

Here in Massachusetts the lines are sharply drawn in the senatorial race. This is true not only from the political perspective but in relation to the history and background of this historically conscious part of America.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., running for re-election, represents by the very fact of being both a Cabot and a Lodge the aristocracy of Boston's Back Bay, which was once the circumspect Valhalla for all proper Bostonians. But what is much more important, he is also a leader and, in a sense, the symbol of the movement that made Gen. Eisenhower the presidential candidate of the GOP.

In the end it was the tightly controlled political machine and the whiplash of Thomas E. Dewey that put Ike over at Chicago. Lodge, however, raised the Eisenhower torch early and held it aloft at a time when almost everyone, including the general himself, doubted the outcome. His faith grew out of his antagonism to what he believed were the isolationist views of the Taft wing of the party and his conviction that Eisenhower and only Eisenhower could shape a new and vital Republicanism.

Now Lodge is in what is generally considered a close race. His opponent is 35-year-old John F. (Jack) Kennedy, Kennedy's ties with the latter-day Massachusetts; with the waves of Irish and later Italian, French Canadian and Portuguese immigration that has so drastically altered this ancient commonwealth.

The youthful congressman's father is Joseph Patrick Kennedy, one of the wealthiest men in America, who made his great for-of California met Gov. Adlai Stevenson at the Democratic conference in Denver last week, both men recalled a previous meeting in Springfield.

Ford had led the do-or-die battle for Kefauver at Chicago, and, going to Springfield after the convention, he asked the governor about a story that, following his nomination, he had paid a visit to Lincoln's home, where he sat in the chair of the great Republican President.

"Was that story true or was it something a newspaper reporter made up?" Ford asked.

"Yes, it's true," said the governor, "though I don't know how the press learned about it. I sat in Lincoln's chair, turned out the light, and meditated for about an hour. When a man is confronted with an overwhelming responsibility, he gains comfort in realizing that someone else faced a similar overwhelming responsibility and in realizing that Lincoln relied on some power other than his own to help him bear it."

It wasn't announced publicly, but the most important decision at the Denver meeting between Stevenson and Democratic chiefs from 11 western states, the man Stevenson defeated at Chicago and who has tremendous public support throughout the nation.

Stevenson promised not only to champion the liberal principles of the Tennessee senator, but to do all in his power to enact them into law if elected.

Stevenson and Mitchell reminded the state chiefs that Kefauver had agreed to make at the one special for the ticket in the big electoral state of California, and in other states where needed.

The warm-up to Kefauver followed some blunt advice by California's national chairman, John Anson Ford, who told Stevenson: "If California voters get the idea that the things Kefauver had been putting off being pushed aside, it might jeopardize the success of our campaign in California."

Ford also cautioned party leaders against "overconfidence."

"Everyone at this meeting seems to be bursting with optimism," Ford told Mitchell and Wilson Wyatt of Kentucky. "That is fine, but let's not overdo it. Let's not be too content too early in the campaign. If we lie back with the attitude that this election is in the bag, we may wind up holding the bag."

Stevenson asked many questions about the progress of congressional campaigns in western states, beamed when Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington, manager of Senate contests in the West, predicted that Stevenson would have a Democratic-controlled senate.

Magnuson reported that the Democrats had an excellent chance of defeating four Republican senators: Cain of Washington, Ecton of Montana, Watkins of Utah and Malone of Nevada. He added that Democratic senators running for re-election in Arizona, New Mexico and Wyoming were "safe," though Sen. O'Mahoney of Wyoming has a tough fight.

EISENHOWER'S CABINET

Nebraskans Figure High In Ike's Plans

HOMER GRUENTHER

HERBERT BROWNELL JR.

SEN. FRED A. SEATON

... with Stanley High, a quartet of Nebraskans are close to Ike ...

Editor's Note:—The following article by noted reporter-writer Bob Considine provides an up-to-the-minute, penetrating study of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his new and still-unfamiliar role of candidate for President.

It deals with the men around Eisenhower, how he feels about them and which men among them are most likely to win positions of importance in Ike's administration if he is elected in November.

By BOB CONSIDINE

History may record that Ike Eisenhower approached the White House as the least-committed candidate in American political annals.

But it does not necessarily follow that Eisenhower got where he is today on his own.

The Taft machine was whipped by another machine, the hastily put-together but smooth-functioning Eisenhower machine.

Eisenhower is the first to admit that he would have lost at Chicago, in all probability if Herbert Brownell, a shrewd Nebraskan who was once campaign manager for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, had not conceived the "fair play" plan of attack, and if Dewey and Gov. Driscoll of New Jersey had not gained the support of the country's Republican governors behind the plan. This maneuver placed Taft in the unhappy position of warring against 25 GOP governors, many of them pledged to him.

Eisenhower is not under nearly as many moral obligations as others who have reached his pinnacle. This is the only political contest of his life; therefore he has acquired fewer "deserving" friends along the route.

But it is generally assumed by the men who have been consistently in his corner since he reluctantly agreed to let his name be entered in the New Hampshire primary that they will remain in his cabinet—actual or kitchen—if he is successful Nov. 4.

One man close to Eisenhower has "picked" the general's cabinet for him, but, of course, has not dared to suggest it to Ike. Eisenhower picks his own men. His friend's list is not a complete cabinet, as well as being a wholly tentative one.

This is it: Secretary of State—John Foster Dulles: "The general likes Dulles' realistic approach to foreign affairs, and his great experience. He has said little or nothing about foreign affairs in his speeches without first talking to Dulles."

Secretary of Defense—Robert A. Lovett or Mark Clark: "Lovett is a Republican and is an impressive leader in appearance before Congress. If he would not want to stay in the new administration, Ike would then lean toward his old friend

Clark. MacArthur is out for refusing to campaign for Ike." Attorney General—Gov. Dewey or Gov. Earl Warren: "The general would like Dewey, when and if, but it's not likely that Dewey would take it. He'd prefer to be secretary of state. Warren looks like the one. It would be a good investment in Warren's future law practice."

Secretary of Interior—Gov. Dan Thornton, Colorado: "Ike is very fond of Dan, likes his loyalty, respects his experience—and realizes that it's best to have a westerner in that post."

Secretary of Labor—Harold Stassen: "Ike was a cinch to win the nomination, after the first ballot left him only a few votes shy. But the fact remains that it was Stassen's Minnesota votes that put him over. Since then Stassen has been doing a lot of quiet missionary work for Ike in labor circles, and is responsible for most of the visits union officials have paid Eisenhower."

Secretary of Agriculture—Rep. Cliff Hays, Republican: "Cliff is the ranking Republican on the House Agriculture Committee. He has been Ike's principal adviser on farm matters, subsidies and so forth."

There are many other Eisenhower intimates who would play perhaps important roles in a new administration.

Especially close to him as political advisers are Sen. Frank Carlson, an earthy, hand-shaking Kansan who has known him well for 10 years, and Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, whose support changed the Eisenhower-for-President campaign from wishful thinking to galvanic reality.

Chief worrier for Ike is Arthur Vandenberg Jr., old-maidish son of the late great senator who was one of Eisenhower's principal boosters. Vandenberg, Jr., is Ike's executive assistant, carefully weighs all proposals made to the general in the light of whether each would be "good" for him. He has asked the golf-loving Ike to cut down on that sport because he fears it might alienate the affections of some voters who go in for less effete sports endeavors. Youthful, efficient Sen. Fredrick A. Seaton of Nebraska, who is not a candidate for re-election and might consider a place in any Eisenhower cabinet, is in the inner circle.

Close also are, of course, the men who did so much to gain for him his primary victories and nomination, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Sen. Jim Duff and former ECA Director Paul Hoffman, who has returned to his post with the Ford Foundation.

National Committee Chairman Arthur Summerfield of Michigan has been named as possible postmaster general in an Eisenhower administration. And there probably would be posts in such an administration for Walter Williams, head of the Citizens for Eisenhower group, and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, Williams' assistant.

Gov. Dewey has supplied Eisenhower with several trusted aides, including Jim Hagerty, crack public relations man. Stanley High, a senior editor of Reader's Digest who formerly wrote for Dewey, is helping Eisenhower with his speeches. High is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Still another Nebraskan, breezy Homer Gruenther, brother of Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, helps greet for Ike. And Tom Stephens, a former Dewey man, passes on who gets in to see Eisenhower—who is not as accessible as his radiant nature suggests.

The Dewey influence is strictly played down. Not once during the Chicago convention did Eisenhower talk face to face or on the phone with the first man of national importance to suggest Ike for the GOP nomination. In New York the Eisenhower camp was purposely pitched in the Commodore Hotel instead of the Roosevelt, where Dewey held forth in 1944 (International News Service)

Bad Word

Chester, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Regardless of politics, it's a great shame and disgrace that men who are running this country and representing the country of the Great Bear should sink to the mud-slinging level. Just recently our honorable President coined a very bad word and I truly hope the Lord will not punish this country for his unfortunate slip. Mr. Jacob Malik was quick like a monkey to imitate him in using the word, "snollygosters," whatever the definition for the word.

S. J. EDWARDS

Time For Toughness

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: "Don't get tough with Russia" is the slogan of the present administration. A former Democratic administration used the same slogan before the first world war. When Germany invaded little Belgium, all we did was to protest mildly. When Germany started her submarine war, all we did was to protest. Even when the Lusitania was sunk, we only sent a strong protest. Finally when Germany drew an imaginary line around the British Isles and served notice to the world that any ship crossing that line would be sunk, no matter what flag was at the masthead, did we get tough and declare war.

And now Russia has drawn the Iron Curtain around a large part of Europe and Asia. Stalin's objective is to force Communism on the whole world. And we are told not to get tough.

The time for appeasement is past, and the time to get tough is now.

Adlai And Platform Voted Out

... At Convention

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Rebel-yelling Texas Democrats Tuesday put Adlai Stevenson's name on the ballot, making it plain they were not endorsing him or the national party platform.

They rejected a plan to make Dwight Eisenhower the candidate of the "Texas Democratic party" and Stevenson the nominee of the "National Democratic party."

This plan, offered by a fighting States Rights faction, was turned down by a 2 to 1 majority.

Ike Campaign
After putting Stevenson's name on the ballot, the convention let go with roaring approval of a resolution requesting the governor, all other state officials, and every Democrat to campaign actively for Eisenhower.

The convention's action came after Gov. Allan Shivers told the cheering, stomping delegates that he is not going to vote for Stevenson, and they don't have to either.

Shivers keynoted the state convention with harsh criticism of Stevenson, President Truman and the national party platform. He linked this with a demand that the only correct legal and moral course was to certify Stevenson anyway.

Won't Vote For Ike
Shivers himself has said he will not vote for Stevenson, but that he doesn't intend now to vote for Gen. Eisenhower.

The 1,200-plus delegates howled and stomped their approval when the governor said putting Stevenson's name on the ballot should not be taken as an endorsement of him or the Chicago convention's platform.

Shivers said it was up to the conscience of each Democratic voter to decide whether to support or oppose the national party nominees.

The delegates stood and yelled when Shivers said he "wanted to see an end to Trumanism in this nation" and "when the contest is between Trumanism and Texas, we choose Texas."

CALGARY, Canada (AP)—Flash, a leopard in the Calgary Zoo from 1939 until last year, came home to die. Flash was sold to a circus last year and died while the show was here recently. He was 23.

DEMOCRATS

ATLANTA (INS)—The Atlanta Constitution, 86-year-old morning newspaper, announced Tuesday its support of Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson Supported
The Constitution, in its Wednesday morning edition, declared it felt the "Democratic party and its nominees offer the best hope for this state and this region."

CHICAGO (INS)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Tuesday praised Gen. Eisenhower as a great leader, but declared that Gov. Stevenson is the world's best hope in the fight against Communism.

Mrs. FDR For Adlai
The former first lady told the independent voters of Illinois at a $20-a-plate breakfast in Chicago:

"Stevenson is our best hope for a leader who is not afraid to speak and act from a high sense of responsibility without regard for possible unpopularity."

"I met him in London when the United Nations was first set up, and I was impressed by his knowledge of all groups."

"He will fill our need for a president who thinks in terms of a civilian administration."

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman Tuesday was reported planning extensive whistle-stops swings through the West and East that would keep him on the road from early October right up to election day.

Truman To Tour Again
Informants said the President is expected to launch the Western phase of a new "give 'em hell" tour with a 10 or 12-day foray through 15 or more states to the West Coast.

At least two political speeches have been tentatively billed for the President in California, which could be a pivotal state in the election.

REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) hinted Tuesday that secret anti-Communist moves are under way and brushed aside GOP claims that the U. S. has appeased Russia since the war.

Disputed
The man who will head the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the event the GOP wins control of the Senate in November took issue with the objections voiced by Gen. Eisenhower to a so-called administration policy of "containment" of Communism.

Just returned from a six-week European tour, Wiley stated:

"We haven't been in the position of doing nothing. We have taken the offensive and started building up strength, not only of ourselves, but our Allies."

The senator asserted also that "we have sought to reach the people behind the Iron Curtain through the Voice of America," and then added:

"And a lot of things that can't even be told about."

Wiley did not say what the secret measures were.

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—Republican and Democratic national and state leaders disagreed Tuesday on the effects of the GOP clean sweep of major offices in Monday's Maine state election.

Disagree On Results
Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, said in Washington that the "low Republican vote" would "seem to indicate a Democratic victory in the November presidential election."

He said GOP candidates for governor and senator didn't get as large a percentage of the total vote as did winning Republican candidates four years ago.

His Republican counterpart, Arthur E. Summerfield, termed Maine's election "a latent landslide sentiment in the United States for a complete change in Washington."

Excellent Corn Yield Certain For East Area

34 Per Cent Entire Crop In Maturity

Nebraska's corn crop has advanced far enough this week to escape heavy frost damage even if the state experiences it as early as the Sept. 28, date of last year's frost.

That was the word Tuesday from the State-Federal Bureau of Agricultural Statistics which said in its weekly crop report that husks on the corn are drying and the corn is maturing normally.

At the same time, the Bureau of Agricultural Statistics reported that eastern Nebraska's corn crop, comprising nearly two-thirds of the state's main cornbelt, generally will be excellent.

West Needs Rain

However, the report pointed out lack of rainfall over much of the western two-thirds of the state has damaged the corn there. Even in these regions farms are expecting a fair good crop, most of the stalks have some corn carrying an ear of about half the normal size, but the crop has dried up completely in only a small percentage of the western fields.

The crop made "splendid progress toward maturity" during the last week, the office reported. As of Sept. 8, 34 per cent of the corn had reached the mature stage, 44 per cent was in the denting stage, 20 per cent was in the hard dough stage and two per cent was still in soft dough.

Wheat Seeding Progresses

The report stated that the seeding of wheat has been limited largely to western and northern Nebraska. The amount of seeding this week varies in the following degrees throughout the state: One-third in the Panhandle, 11 per cent in north central and northeastern Nebraska and 18 per cent in southwestern regions.

Seeding conditions were described as ideal in the eastern third of the state and generally fair to good in the western third, but more moisture is needed nearly everywhere.

In the west frost on Sept. 1, killed some of the beans and hastened maturity of the crop. A small per cent of the late potato crop was damaged slightly but in general both potatoes and sugar beets are promising.

Favorable weather during the week improved the outlook for sorghum crops in western and southern counties, hay has improved, and the alfalfa crop now is exceeding some earlier expectations.

Following is the Nebraska rainfall report for the week:

Sharp Reduction In Farm Subsidies Favored By Crosby

SUMNER, Neb. — Robert B. Crosby, Republican gubernatorial candidate, said Tuesday it is encouraging to discover that farmers and ranchers are becoming more convinced that federal subsidies for agriculture should be "sharply reduced or abolished at this time."

Speaking before a special meeting of the Wood River Unit of the Dawson County Farm Bureau, Crosby said that more farmers and ranchers are resenting the "needless expenditures of tax money" and the "sprawling bureaucracy that has come in the wake of such expenditures."

"Unquestionably, the rural people of the midwest represent the most independent section of our American population," he said.

In other convention business county Legion officers for the various counties were elected.

Water Diversion Discussed By Mid-State, Tri-County

No Decision Reached On Legislation

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Directors of the Nebraska Mid-State Reclamation District and of the Central Nebraska Tri-County Public Power and Irrigation District met here for a discussion of water diversion legislation.

No decisions were reached.

The Tri-County recently published a pamphlet in which the arguments for a diversion bill were ordered, and amendments to the Nebraska water control law were suggested. It was the contention of the pamphlet that these amendments would amply protect the rights of irrigators within a watershed.

'47 Last Attempt

There has been no diversion of water from one watershed to another in Nebraska since the state Supreme court in the middle 1930s held that a diversion project then attempted by the Tri-County was unconstitutional.

Several attempts have been made in the past to amend the law so as to permit diversion of water, but they have failed. The latest was in 1947.

No commitments have been made by the Mid-State board in the matter of a diversion bill, it was said. But the board expressed itself as willing to discuss the matter, and to explore the possibility of legislation which would protect the water users within the Platte Valley and at the same time make possible the use of excess water from the Platte outside the watershed.

No Commitments

Both Ralph Canaday of Hastings, general manager and attorney for Tri-County, and E. H. Staubitz of Kearney, president of Mid-State, emphasized at the conclusion of the meeting that no commitments had been asked or given.

Both said the meeting was harmonious, and the discussion of all phases of the diversion problem friendly.

The Tri-County was represented by Canaday; G. E. Shellenberger, Tony Ahlquist and Winfred Bessing, all of Elwood; Neal Shreck, Bertrand, Claude Miller Holdrege; A. C. Hove, J. R. McBride and Ben Bracken, Minden; Mauritz Able and George Johnson, Hastings.

Mid-State directors at the meeting were Mr. Staubitz; H. W. Kendall and Oscar Drake, both of Kearney; L. J. Farris, Archer; M. A. Larson and Roy Betts, Central City; Martin Kelly and C. J. Reitan, Grand Island.

College Housing Shortage Solved

SEWARD, Neb.—(Lincoln Star Special)—Efforts by a group of Seward citizens solved the student housing shortage at Concordia Teachers College when enrollment reached a record high for the second consecutive year.

Although enrollment figures reached a record 263, 14 more than last year's record, campus housing facilities remained unchanged.

The campaign for additional housing began in July, according to President Alfred O. Fuerbringer and R. W. Griesse, dean of students, when the College Relations Committee of the Seward Chamber of Commerce, headed by Leonard Geesen, took up the problem. Rooms for 29 single students and homes for four married couples were found by Chamber members Walter Gass, Gordon Hayes, Al Hogue, Dale Lester and Geesen.

Agronomy Field Day Is Sept. 20

The University of Nebraska's annual fall agronomy field day will be held Saturday morning, Sept. 20.

Extension Agronomist J. D. Furrer said the tour of the field plots at the institution's agronomy farm will start at 9:30 a.m. and end promptly at noon. This will give those attending an opportunity to go to the Nebraska-South Dakota football game in the afternoon.

The annual event will be held earlier than usual this year because of the earliness of the crop season. Furrer said the corn, soybeans, grain sorghum and other crops are in excellent condition.

Ohio Attempts 1st Drilling In Kimball County

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—The Ohio Oil Co. is trying its luck in wild-cat oil exploration in Kimball County, marking the company's first drilling activity in that county since oil was discovered in western Nebraska 3½ years ago.

Ohio's Everett No. 1 is located about a mile and one-half or two miles north of the southwest Kimball pool. Kimball County's discovery well, Torgeson No. 1 is in that pool.

While production in that locality has not proved sensational, Ohio has been planning for some time to move into the area to evaluate the lease holdings it has.

Ohio reports that its Cook field in Cheyenne County, located about eight miles north of Sunol, is shaping up as one of the better finds in this section of the country. A drill stem test is under way at the Cook No. 2 and core tests in the D sand indicated that another good well was in the making.

Change Name Of Omaha Boys Home

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha Masonic Home for Boys will be known in the future as the Omaha Home for Boys, Executive Director Harry Bruner said.

The term "Masonic" was used because the home was organized 32 years ago by a group of individual Masons and because the name reflected the Masonic affiliation of the trustees, Bruner explained.

"However, its use has led to misunderstanding, both by Masons and others," he added. "Many felt that direction and support came from organized Masonry."

"Many believed that only Masonic boys were admitted," he continued. "Many non-Masons felt it was neither their obligation nor privilege to help support the work. The new name was adopted to eliminate these misconceptions."

Allies Recapture Prized Capitol Hill After Four Days Of Battle

7 MIGs Are Downed; 12 Damaged

SEOUL (Wednesday) (P) — South Korean infantrymen recaptured prized Capitol Hill Tuesday night after four days of bloody fighting for the Central Front peak.

In the air, U. S. Sabrejet pilots kept up their swiftest pace of the war in battles with Communist MIGs.

The jet airmen reported they shot down seven more MIGs Tuesday and damaged 12 in what one pilot called "the wildest fight I've ever been in."

Eleven B-29 Superforts last night bombed a Red ammunition dump at Sopo, in northeast Korea near Hungnam, and gunners on one bomber shot down a Communist night fighter.

Beat Off Counter Attack
The Eighth Army said troops of the crack South Korean Capitol Division wrested their namesake hill from Chinese defenders at bayonet point and then beat off a surging counter attack in a pre-dawn dark Wednesday.

Stung by defeat on defeat in five blistering days of air combat, more than 150 MIGs rose from their Manchurian bases when Allied fighter-bombers began attacking a nearby Red military training base.

Anonymous $8,000 Gift Boosts Cedars Home Fund Over $41,000

A gift of $8,000 has been presented anonymously to the current campaign to raise $55,000 for the construction of a new building to house the Cedars Home for Children.

Announcement of the gift was made by Joseph J. Carlotto, president of the Home's board of trustees.

The gift brings the total received to date to $41,763 or 75 per cent of the goal.

Carlotto also stated that the final mail appeal has gone out to over 5,000 patrons and friends of the home within the past week.

He stated that 850 individuals have so far made contributions by cash and pledge, and several thousand others were represented through donations in collection boxes and through membership in clubs and associations which have given.

An earlier donation of $25,000 from Mr. "X," another anonymous donor, has now been matched, according to Carlotto.

Mr. "X" deposited $25,000 in bonds at a local bank for use by the Cedars Home if another $25,-

Polio Situation Topic Of Rotary Club Speech

Dr. E. A. Rogers, acting director of health for Nebraska, discussed the present polio situation at the Tuesday meeting of the Rotary Club at the YMCA.

"One of the biggest reasons for our high polio incidence rate this year is the fact that for many years we had an extremely favorable polio rate," Dr. Rogers said.

"Therefore, the great majority of our people have not had a chance to build up immunity against the disease."

Another factor in the current high polio rate, Dr. Rogers believes, is the "excellent sanitation" existing in the U. S.

"Our people just don't develop immunity against diseases as do persons in more backward countries," he stated.

Watch, Billfolds Reported Stolen From Frat House

Delta Tau Delta fraternity members, smarting from the three thefts that occurred at the house Monday night, had tentative plans Tuesday on protective measures to prevent entry of purloining interlopers.

The three thefts reported to Lincoln police were:

A billfold and identification stolen from Dick Bennett, sophomore at the University of Nebraska. He reported no cash stolen.

A billfold and $20 in cash, plus a yellow Green automatic watch valued at more than $100 from John Nelson, University sophomore from Sioux Falls, S. D. The watch was insured.

Identification and a billfold containing $11 in cash from Gerald Knight of Omaha, a University sophomore.

Nelson late Tuesday said the three students were the only ones reporting losses, but he said there may be more. The three students live in two rooms. They reported they had left their billfolds on top of the study tables.

The doors to the fraternity house have not been locked, nor have the members locked their individual rooms.

Nelson commented that one if not both measures may be adopted to prevent further losses.

The thefts occurred sometime after 3 a.m.

What's the MOST SURPRISING THING about this BUICK?

LOCAL DELIVERED PRICE FOR THE NEW 1952 BUICK SPECIAL $2308<sup>88</sup>

2-door 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan MODEL 480 (Illustrated)
Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one—it's the figures on the price tag.
For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three." Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.
Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.
Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.
You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.
You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.
You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.
You get the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive.*

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.
Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

New Series Of Atomic Tests Set For Fall At Eniwetok

Explosion Of H-Bomb Is Possible

WASHINGTON (INS) — The government Tuesday announced a new series of atomic tests will be conducted this fall at Eniwetok in the Pacific and raised speculation that a hydrogen "hell" bomb may be exploded for the first time.

A joint statement by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission did not mention the H-bomb, but other sources anticipated that it will be tested.

It also was pointed out that Eniwetok is the AEC's site for testing larger nuclear weapons.

Clarkson In Charge
The bomb tests will be under the direction of Maj. General Percy W. Clarkson, commander of "Joint Task Force 132," which has been engaged in construction and other preparations for the exploding since July, 1951.

The government's announcement said "Only official observers of the United States government and members of the task force will be present at the test. They will be conducted under security provision of the Atomic Energy Act."

The last series at Eniwetok, in April and May of 1951, included a hydrogen or "thermonuclear" test, but not the explosion of an actual H-bomb.

The AEC has indicated that the first H-bomb will be tested at the Eniwetok proving grounds because the Mid-Pacific provides greater safety than the atomic proving grounds near Las Vegas, Nev.

Clarkson, who was deputy commander in the 1951 Eniwetok operation, will be assisted this fall by Dr. Alvin C. Graves, director of the test division for the Los Alamos scientific laboratory. Graves was also scientific director of the hydrogen test last year.

Brig. Gen. William H. Wise, of the U.S. Air Force will command air operations in this fall's test. Capt. James R. Pahl will command Naval operations, and Brig. Gen. Arthur B. Walk will be Army representative on the command staff.

Clarkson is a native of San Antonio, and a 1915 graduate of Texas A. & M., where he majored in electrical engineering.

'Outside City' Water Request May Be Granted

City Engineer D. L. Erickson said the request of Thelma C. Olson for water service outside the city limits may be granted, "depending upon how much water she wants."

Erickson took the request before the city's Water Advisory Board Tuesday but the issue was not settled there, he said.

The request for water was brought before the City Council Monday. At that time, Deputy City Engineer Carl Fisher said the Water Department was hesitant about taking on new customers outside the city limits with the existing limited water supply.

Missouri Pacific Will Raze Old-Fashioned Depot At 9th, S

A Lincoln landmark of some 60 years will soon give way to the continuing modernization of the city.

The Missouri Pacific passenger depot, located at 9th and S Streets, is to be razed soon after the first of the year when modernization of the baggage room building paralleling 9th Street and the passenger train platform will be completed.

The baggage room building will be revamped to serve as a ticket office, waiting room, telegraph office, general agent's room, ticket office and baggage room. It is a 76 by 24 structure of brick and will be completely modernized, J. J. Myers, general agent, said.

Myers said the big depot was too spacious for present needs, but also the razing plans fitted into a city program to beautify that portion of Lincoln. "There are no plans at present for the site" of the passenger depot which will be razed, he added.

The station was used jointly by the Missouri Pacific and Chicago and North Western until the early 30s, when the North Western withdrew passenger service from Lincoln. The two railroads still use jointly the freight depot to the west of the passenger depot.

Both railroads completed lines to Lincoln in 1886. According to early Lincoln history, when Jay Gould, famed American financier, built his first Nebraska extension six years earlier, he thought Lincoln too insignificant to merit main line service so he passed the city 30 miles to the east. However, later direct lines to

In The New Strauss Bros. Addition!

(First Addition to Cotner Terrace)

Every New Home Will Be Equipped With A---

GENERAL ELECTRIC Disposall

No More Trips To The Garbage Can!

- No More Drippy Sacks • No More Messy Sinks
- No More Garbage Cans to Empty

The finest food waste disposer made. Provides you with "garbage free" living... inside and outside of your home. Shreds all types of food waste and washes it away before it becomes garbage. Thousands of "GE" Disposall units have been in use for over 10 years... proof of famous "GE" dependability. No other appliance offers you so much for better and graceful living.

By Bill Lofink
I guess when you think of a leader in any field, you think of the name of a product that sets the pace... and when you think of a garbage disposal unit, you naturally think of GE's "Disposall". We think they are the best, so we decided to put them in Strauss Bros. new homes.

Here is one of the most wanted home appliances. If you talk to any group of people, it is one thing that they have high on their list of things they would like to have in their home. And we are sort of proud of the fact that we are going to do it without adding a penny to the cost of your future home!

You might say we are doing our part to make garbage cans obsolete!

When you get to thinking about why some "brands" are so popular, you realize that it comes from a combination of things. First they have to be GOOD, because you just don't make a product wanted unless it's good. And another thing, a product has just got to keep it uniformly good... or they lose their good name. Finally, I guess these companies wouldn't spend millions advertising these products if they weren't making something so darn good that you'd want to buy it. You guessed it... we're sold on good "brand names"... and that's why you get them in every Strauss Bros. home!

When you look into our kitchens and bathrooms, you'll find "Nairn" inlaid linoleum on the floors and "Briggs" plumbing fixtures. And the name "Sargent" on the builder's hardware means you'll get real service from your front door key to the smallest cabinet hinge. If you think of an oak floor, what name comes to mind? Sure, it's "Bruce", and our floors are all "Bruce", and the name of 30 gal. gas hot water heaters put in... tell you when you want loads of really hot water... "Day & Night". There isn't much question that you wouldn't buy a new home if you weren't sure it was going to be comfortably warmed by a reliable furnace! In a Strauss Bros. home a dependable "Coleman" Blend Air forced warm air gas furnace guarantees you even, dependable, economical heat.

Did you know that we're doing our part to cut down on cussing and our new subdivisions? Did you ever listen to an otherwise docile guy sound off at a sticking, slipping, hard to work garage door? Well, we put in "Overhead" doors so this won't happen! Just about everybody calls doors that slide up "overhead doors", but there is only one brand named "Overhead" and they really lead the field. They work so easily that a small child can easily open them. And speaking of doors, the interior doors in these homes aren't just doors... they're "Mengel".

Guess I could go on and on, but you get the idea. I'd like to have you come out and see what a difference these better brands make in a home.

Introducing— The Rudolph Caceks

Off on another errand trek, a thousand of which accrue before one is settled in her new home, are Mrs. Cacek, her daughters Susan, six years old, and eleven year old Joan. Bidding them a temporary farewell is Joanie's houseguest, Jeralyn Tenopir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tenopir of Crete.

The Caceks have moved from St. Louis to Lincoln, where Mr. Cacek is the district sales manager dealing in sterling and china, and are residing at 3795 Mohawk street. Since her husband is traveling most of the time, Mrs. Cacek has cultivated many fine and prolific hobbies which occupy the hours when her children are in school or playing. In Los Angeles, she picked up the ceramic bug and has done a number of cigarette ensembles, figurines and candy boxes. Their lawn is like a picture, and it is obvious that this attractive wife loves gardening. They hope to extend their patio in the back yard, and Mrs. Cacek claims that if she had her way, she would eat every meal outdoors! They enjoy barbecues . . . who doesn't when a big thick steak is the victim . . . and especially barbecued ribs with lots of sauce! Naturally, Mrs. Cacek loves to cook, in their sunny and colorful kitchen.

When needlework was the craze a while back, Mrs. Cacek did a lovely group of pictures, and is currently involved in covering her entire suite of dining room chair . . . a staggering task! She is formerly from Crete, and her husband from Beatrice, so they are doubly glad to be back near their family after having lived in Los Angeles, Des Moines, Denver and St. Louis.

Joan, who will enter sixth grade at Randolph, is a Girl Scout and is working toward some of her badges this summer. Her mother will offer excellent help, having been a former brownie and scout leader. Joan is interested in music and will begin piano lessons soon. Susan, a first grader at Randolph, loves dancing, her dolls, and to dress up in mother's clothes! (Look for Mrs. Cacek as an active member of the PTA!)

Maybe We'll Be Lucky

PARDON US, please, while we do a bit of maneuvering—Our problem is getting all of our very nice news into a certain amount of space and if we put all of the pieces together just right, we may be able to do it—Anyway, we'll get a large E for effort—

HAD YOU heard that the James MacLeans—Mr. and Mrs.—(Mary Gavin) had purchased a new home? Well they have, and eventually, after the re-decorating has been completed, their new address will be 1818 South Twenty-fourth street—the former home of Mrs. A. C. Lau.

HEARD SOMEPLACE that the young Van Dulings (she was Georgia Lemon) of Mason City, Ia., are leaving September 26 on a flying trip to Europe—We use the term "flying" in both a figurative and literal sense—Mr. and Mrs. Duling are making the trip by plane, but will be gone only two weeks.

SORRY WE couldn't make the tea for which Mrs. Harry Simon and Mrs. Robert Simon were hostesses on Tuesday afternoon when they honored Mrs. Walter Simon of Madison, Wis., who with Mr. Simon is spending several days in Lincoln—We hear that it was a beautiful party.

HAVE QUITE a guest list this morning—First of all we discovered that Mrs. Alex Mills (Dorothy Gallup), and her two children, Michael and Christina Ann, who are the house guests of Mrs. Mills's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gallup—Mrs. Mills, the four-year-old Michael, the young Miss Mills, who will celebrate her first birthday on Thursday, came from Osceola for a visit during the time Mr. Mills is on a Navy cruise.

WE JUST found out that Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Volz will be host and hostesses next Sunday morning—They have planned a 12 o'clock brunch at the Lincoln Country Club—as a sort of pre-football season party.

THEN WE learned that there were house guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Linch—Mrs. Linch's mother, Mrs.

Frances M. Roberts of Wichita Falls, Tex., and her aunt and cousin, Mrs. O. A. Terry and Olin Bryan Terry of Dallas, Tex. Also learned that Mrs. Linch, Mrs. Terry and Olin Terry, will take off on Friday for Chicago where they plan to spend the week-end and to attend some major league games—Mr. Linch is hoping to accompany the travelers, but his plans are indefinite.

AND ARRIVING on Friday, so someone told us, will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bellamy of Kansas City, Mo., who will be the week-end house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilkins—

MENTION OF guests and the week-end reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. Don Hileman left Monday afternoon to return to their home in McCook after a week-end stay as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bradley.

MAYBE YOU'VE had a glimpse of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Devoe of Washington, D. C.,—and then again, maybe you haven't because the Devoes have been visiting here and there all over Nebraska—But we know for sure they will be in Lincoln Thursday evening when Mr. Devoe's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Devoe, entertain at dinner in their honor at the University club. Dinner places will be arranged for fourteen.

BUT OUT OF TOWN guests are NOT the incentive for the dinner on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Smith entertain at the Lincoln Country club—Mr. and Mrs. Smith are having a dinner party just for the sake of a party—Following dinner at the club the group will go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith for an evening of bridge.

WELL, IT would seem that the bridge club season is getting underway—Thursday evening, we understand, Mrs. Stanley Maly, Jr., will be hostess to the members of her bridge eightsome at her home—the first of the autumn season meetings for this group—

AND NEXT Tuesday evening Mrs. Sidney Bradley will entertain the members of her bridge eightsome at her home—

HEAR THAT the group of young matrons who organized a poker club that met once each month for luncheon at the LCC, have changed the hour of meeting—This year the group will dine at the club and spend the evening with poker.

BUT BACK to the bridge groups—a week from Thursday Mrs. Richard Alloway will be a luncheon hostess at her home when she entertains the members of her bridge eightsome.

THE CAMPUS crowd will be sorry to learn that Miss Marilyn Pedersen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Merritt Pedersen, an Alpha Chi Omega at Nebraska, leaves on Sunday to plane to Ann Arbor, Mich., where she will attend college this year. Miss Pedersen plans to become a dental hygienist.

HAD A COMMUNIQUE from Columbus, O., telling of the arrival of Miss Elizabeth Leonard on Sunday, August 7. The young lady is the daughter of and her mother is the former Dr. and Mrs. Patrick Leonard. Mary Clare Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Clark of Lincoln.

TUESDAY WAS a mighty exciting day for Lynn Purvis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Purvis—On Tuesday Lynn celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary with a party for sixteen small guests.

Guests In Lincoln

Visiting in Lincoln for the last few days have been Capt. Leif Melsom, USN, and Mrs. Melsom, the former Barbara Hodgman and an Alpha Phi at Nebraska, who have been the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stone.

Their stay has not been all pleasure, however, as Capt. and Mrs. Melsom have been spending a good share of their time packing and crating their belongings to take with them to their new home in Washington.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. John Fenstermacher moved into their new home at 2520 North Sixty-fifth street last week-end.

Pfc. Robert Mortensen, USMC, and Mrs. Mortensen are visiting in Lincoln as the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mortensen and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Borgman. They will return to San Diego, Cal., later this month at the conclusion of Pvt. Mortensen's leave. Mrs. Mortensen is the former Joan Borgman.

Returning home recently from a vacation trip to Lake Lauderdale, Wis., and Springfield, Ill., was Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

Guest From Pasadena

Mrs. Beulah Rush Baldwin of Pasadena, Calif., who has been the house guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Doane T. Pickering, left Tuesday evening to return to her home. Mrs. Baldwin, who vacationed with Mr. and Mrs. Pickering in Minnesota, was the incentive for numerous informal courtesies during her stay in Lincoln.

Nu Phi Mu Has Meeting

Miss Donna Rezac presided at the first fall business meeting of Unit I, Nu Phi Mu, which was Monday, Sept. 8 at the chapter rooms.

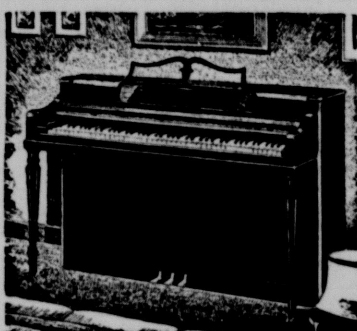

Plans for the social activities and programs for the coming year were discussed. The next meeting will be Monday, Sept. 22 and Mrs. Robert Greenlee, ways and means chairman, will be in charge.

Organized Labor Gives $565 To City Air Terminal Fund

The Chamber of Commerce east corner of the Air Base, three miles nearer to downtown Lincoln than the present air terminal. President Robert E. Johnstone of the Lincoln Building & Construction Trades Council, reported the following subscriptions to Chairman Waugh:

Asbestos Workers No. 39	$25
Building Laborers No. 540	25
Plasterers No. 22	25
Sheet Metal Workers No. 541	25
Electricians No. 265	100
Plumbers No. 88	100
Bricklayers No. 2	100
Roofers No. 129	25
Typographical No. 269 and State, County and Municipal Employees No. 35	15
Lincoln Building & Construction Trades	15

The funds are being raised to provide facilities Lincoln will lose with the reactivation of the Air Base. Of this amount, $175,000 has been earmarked for Union Airport, now leased by the city for use of private fliers; and $225,000 is to match at least $200,000 of municipal airport funds to be used for developing a new location and constructing a new administration building for commercial airlines. The latter will be at the south-

Council. Waugh also announced the following recent business pledges:

Green & Groesbeck	$500
North Side Planning Mill	100
Polson Brothers Co.	100
V. A. Gillan	100
Capital Broom Works	25
Provident Insurance Agency	100
General Loan Service	50

"We feel that many other firms still will subscribe, now that all uncertainty regarding the Air Base has been removed. Some questions about reactivation arose during critical stages of the finance campaign, but those are now resolved," Waugh declared.

Goodly portions of the fund already have been committed, particularly at Union Airport. There, Abel Construction Company is resurfacing, lengthening and widening runways under a $71,000.00 contract; and thirty-six T-hangers soon are to be erected at a cost of $83,000.00. City officials are pushing plans for developments at the new many air terminal site. First expense of grading, laying concrete aprons and otherwise preparing the area will be charged against the Chamber fund. City airport funds are to be used for the administration building, plans for which will be reviewed again by the city council and Chamber officials Thursday morning.

Cleveland, Giants Creep Ahead In Pennant Chases

Des Moines Falls, 8-3; Wichita Loses

Lincoln A's Gain Sixth Place Deadlock

DES MOINES (P) — Lincoln's Athletics, battling for a sixth-place finish in the Western League, pounced on pitcher Dick Verbiec for five runs in the seventh inning to post an 8-3 victory over the Des Moines Bruins Tuesday night.

The triumph moved the A's, who had previously vacated the cellar position for the Bruins, into a tie with Wichita for sixth—two games remaining before the playoffs begin. The top four teams, Wichita, Colorado Springs, Lincoln and Des Moines, are tied for first place with a 10-7 loss.

Verbiec folded after hurling a one-hitter through the first six innings.

That one hit was a two-run homer in the fifth by Bob Gardner which tied the score.

Des Moines took a 3-2 edge in the sixth when Verbiec singled home a run.

The A's then belted six hits in their five-run seventh, including doubles by Don Davis and Bill Stewart, to clinch pitcher Ed Hrabeska's 13th victory.

With two games remaining on

Rugged Schedule Faces Southwest Conference Teams This Season

Texas Christian Lone Loop Member In Nation's Top Ten

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (P)—Next week the Southwest Conference launches a most ambitious intersectional schedule. The teams of this rough and ready football league can look at the ratings and see just what a tough card they've laid out for themselves.

Michigan State, No. 1; Georgia Tech, No. 3; Oklahoma, No. 4; Wisconsin, No. 7, and Notre Dame, No. 10. The only Southwest Conference team in the top 10 is Texas Christian, which is ranked one notch ahead of Notre Dame.

Chances are the conference will make an excellent showing against the outside opposition. It probably will push a conference team up among the top five but hardly into first place. The big trouble is that the lowest-rated team in the conference—Texas A & M—is the one that plays Michigan State. Southern Methodist, which is placed about fourth in most of the polls around the conference, engages Georgia Tech.

But the two most outwardly optimistic coaches are those piloting A & M and Southern Methodist. Ray George, Aggie mentor, says "We're going into every game to win, and don't think those boys aren't capable of winning any or all of them."

This from the coach of a team that lost more top football players than any other in the Conference.

Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist says "We're going to have a good team." It's an unusual

Czech Army Boosts Zatopek To Major

VIENNA (P)—It's now Maj. Emil Zatopek.

The great Czech runner finally got his expected army promotion, Radio Prague reported Tuesday night. Zatopek, a triple winner in the recent Helsinki Olympic games, was only a captain then.

In 1948, after Emil set an Olympic record in winning the 10,000 meter run at London, he was promoted from a second grade lieutenant to first grade.

Zatopek won the 5,000, 10,000 and the marathon at Helsinki.

Ex-Yankee Outfielder Is Top PCL Pitching Light

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Big Johnny Lindell, who was quite a Yankee outfielder, stood out Tuesday as perhaps the best Pacific Coast League prospect for next year—as, of all things, a pitcher.

Lindell went up to the Yanks as a pitcher from Newark, on the strength of 23 wins. But he became a hard-hitting outfielder.

Monday night big John won his 23rd pitching victory for the Hollywood Stars, and rumors have it he's headed for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

USC Seeks TV Game

LOS ANGELES (INS)—University of Southern California officials said Tuesday they are making a concerted effort to place one of the Trojan's football games on 1952 national television schedule.

Officials believe that either the Southern California - California game on Oct. 25 here, or the Trojan-UCLA game on Nov. 22 will be placed on the schedule over the NBC network.

Li'l Mo Given Horse

SAN DIEGO (INS)—Maureen Connolly, "Little Mo" of the tennis world, got a horse Tuesday. The young tennis queen, who will be 18 today, was given a riding steed by thousands of San Diegans who contributed to the fund in honor of her tennis conquests the world over.

statement from him. Remember, Southern Methodist wound up last in the conference last season. Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian isn't talking. He doesn't need to and if he did it wouldn't do any good. The Horned Frogs are favorites to repeat with the Conference championship in any poll you might take. Workouts of the TCU's thus far indicate that they will live up to their press notices. Gil Bartosh, the great quarterback of 1950 who couldn't do anything right last season, has shown up so well that Meyer is using his star tailback of 1951—Ray McKown—at fullback, just to get him adjusted to another position. The Frogs are loaded with talent, especially in the backfield.

Texas, Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Rice round out the top five of the Conference, not necessarily in that order. Each has its staunch following as a championship contender. Baylor is watched warily. The Bears appear a lot better than the sixth-place ranking they've been getting. Texas A & M, of course, is relegated to the cellar.

Texas is due to have a greatly improved offense—in fact, the Longhorn offensive backfield looks as good as any you'll find.

Many sophomores, however, are going to man jobs in the line and the backfield on defense. "We've got quite a number of young boys—and they're not without ability—but they will have to learn in a hurry to play as sophomores in this rugged Conference. They'll cut their teeth on good teams like Louisiana State, North Carolina, Notre Dame and Oklahoma."

The key to Texas' success is a young man named Bunny Andrews, who saw only 12 minutes of action in 1951 and who is betting depended upon for the quarterback and passing job this season. He was great in spring training.

Southern Methodist has its finest material in years but much of it, like Texas, is untested in varsity competition. However, there are enough veterans, topped by that man of all trades, Fullback-Tackle Bill Forester, to make the Methodists title contenders all the way. At least SMU is going to be able to start out with a top-flight line. Last year Russell couldn't find a tackle to his name.

Rice looks like a stonewall defensive outfit if not up to last season's offensive efforts, and Arkansas should blossom a glittering offense featuring that amazing sophomore of 1951—Lamar McHan.

It will be another knock-down, drag-out race inside the Conference. Even if the teams make a great showing in intersectional strife, they'll cut each other out of the top ratings with a couple of so-called upsets per week. That's the usual pattern.

here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kierman

The international monetary fund reports that most member nations are now attempting to live beyond their means... obviously attempting to keep up with their citizens.

They set up this fund at Bretton Woods to balance the world's finances and it's one of the few financial plans that ever started in the woods although most of them end there.

Uncle Sam was the host at Bretton Woods and naturally the opening line was "See what the boys in the backwoods will have."

We were not picked as host because we had the finest forest but when you're going to have chicken for dinner you go to the restaurant that has the most chicken.

The only thing is that our chicken is right down to the wish bone and we still have hungry cousins making a wish on it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three U's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A cryptogram quotation

RYJ LURG GUW HWQHOW TEGR
UWNJ PQYCEFWJ, RADFPWOYR
QEFNRTOW--ADOGQY.

Yesterday's Cryptogram: LOVE, FREE AS AIR, AT SIGHT OF HUMAN TIES, SPREADS HIS LIGHT WINGS, AND IN A MOMENT FLIES--POPE.
